

Correction to “Attestation Form Now Available for Qualified Primary Care Providers to Receive ACA Rate Increase”

Information posted March 15, 2013

This is an update to an article titled “Attestation Form Now Available for Qualified Primary Care Providers to Receive ACA Rate Increase,” which was published on March 8, 2013, on this website.

The original article and the attestation form said that the rate increase would be applied for providers who have a certification recognized by the American Optometric Association. The correct board name is the American Osteopathic Association.

The Texas Medicaid Attestation for ACA Primary Care Services Rate Increases form has been corrected and posted on this website.
