Questions About Becoming Certified to Conduct a DID?
DADS has updated the FAQs

Information posted November 3, 2015

The Department of Aging and Disability Services (DADS) has added new questions and answers to its website to help Local Intellectual or Developmental Disability Authorities (LIDDAs) and their employees understand the process of becoming certified to conduct a determination of intellectual disability (DID). They can be found on the LIDDA website.

Don't find the answer to your question on the site? Send it to pdo@dads.state.tx.us.