Mental Health Awareness Art Contest Open, Deadline is March 15

Information posted February 16, 2018

Texas children and adults are joining forces to shine the light on mental health conditions that affect millions of people.

The 2018 Children’s and Adults’ Mental Health Awareness Creative Arts Contest is now open and the deadline for entries is March 15.

Texas Health and Human Services and the Texas System of Care invites Texas students and adults to tell their stories about why mental health matters to them through poster art, writing, videos and photography, and have their work displayed and published across the state.
